THE SOUTH CAROLINA STATE LIBRARY

To His Excellency, the Honorable Richard W. Riley, Governor of South Carolina, and to The Honorable Members of the General Assembly of South Carolina:

It is with pleasure that I submit to you the report of the South Carolina State Library for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1980.

Splendid progress has been made under our new director, Betty E. Callahan, in expanding library services across the state. Information services for State government have been expanded. County library trustees and administrators have shared in a careful reassessment of public library needs and objectives, and grant programs have provided an incentive for the improvement of institutional library services.

We are particularly pleased with the enlarged facilities for the Library for the Blind and Handicapped which should be adequate through 1982 to meet the needs of clients in the State eligible for this service. The acquisition of the Gibbes property is an encouraging step toward assuring that the State Library itself will have adequate room for expansion in the decades to come. The SOLINET system has been enlarged also to provide faster, cheaper and more efficient communication and transfer of materials among the citizens of the State.

The South Carolina State Library has been a leader among state library systems across the nation. In a difficult era of fiscal limits the State Library has led in cooperation and innovation in order to maintain both budget limits and the services essential to the citizens of the State.

Respectfully submitted,

CARLANNA L. HENDRICK

SOUTH CAROLINA STATE LIBRARY

I. Administration

Agency Director:

The Agency Director is the State Librarian who is responsible for the operation of the South Carolina State Library. She is employed by and is responsible to the Board of the State Library.

A. General Administration

Plans development and extension of library service; establishes and reviews policies; prepares and administers the annual budget; administers State and Federal aid for libraries; promotes the extension and improvement of library service; recommends library legislation.

B. Library Interpretation

Interprets the objectives and functions of the state-wide library program; plans and carries out a state wide program of publicity and public relations designed to publicize the library and its service to the general public.

II. Technical Services

Acquires and makes available all materials used in the library program; catalogs and classifies books, serials and pamphlets; purchases and receives all materials; receives, stores and distributes periodicals and newspapers, classifies and/or catalogs all State and Federal documents received; prepares all materials for use; and maintains the book collection; is responsible for the microfilming of the entire catalog of the State Library and for maintaining the microfilm editions of the catalogs of the University of South Carolina and Clemson; monitors use of SOLINET computer terminal in both cataloging and reference service.

III. Field Services

A. General Field Service

Fosters the development and improvement of public library services; assists local officials, librarians and citizens through visits, surveys and correspondence; provides consultant service in planning of public and institutional library buildings; advises with architects and librarians on planning new library facilities; plans workshops and training programs; supervises the distribution of State Aid and other grant programs; monitors all local library projects funded from Federal funds administered by the South Carolina State Library.

B. *Career Education

The provision of training opportunities for public and institutional library employees; planning and supervision of the certification program for public librarians.

C. *Library Services for the Disadvantaged

Consultant service to local libraries engaged in, or planning, projects in this area; supervision of local projects; reporting and evaluation of the program.

D. *Film Service

Provision of a film loan service to qualifying public and institutional libraries through a contract with the existing film library at USC; training in use of films as a means of extending the informational resources of the local library.

E. *Library Services for Children

Provision of assistance and training for public library staffs to enable them to better serve children and parents.

IV. Reader Services

A. *General Reader Service

Provides reference and research services to State Government, State Government agencies, and to State employees. Maintains and services the ERIC document collection. Selects books and other materials to be added to the general reference collection; prepares and publishes a monthly bibliography of new acquisitions and prepares special bibliographies and checklist of State documents.

B. *Reference and Informational Service

Monitors In-WATS telephone request service from public and institutional libraries; fills reference requests for inter-library loans for libraries throughout the State; supervises a TWX network for rapid interlibrary communication; consultant service to local libraries on the maintenance of a strong reference collection; plans and provides workshops to increase the effectiveness of pre-professional library employees engaged in reference service.

V. Service to Blind and Physically Handicapped

Plans and administers library service to the blind and physically handicapped; maintains liaison with the Library of Congress, National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped; maintains records of the eligible borrowers and of materials and equipment on loan; provides guidance to readers in selection of books; supervises five browsing collections of talking books in local public libraries.

VI. Institutional Service

Plans and administers a program to establish, develop and improve library service in State institutions; supervises the library program in individual institutions and provides consultant service for library development in all institutions.

SOUTH CAROLINA STATE LIBRARY

Historical Synopsis

In 1929 the General Assembly enacted legislation authorizing establishment of the State Public Library Association, a state library extension agency which was to become known as the South Carolina State Library Board. Due to the great depression which followed, no funds were appropriated for the new agency; however a Board of five citizens was appointed. The first statewide library program was initiated under the Works Progress Administration from 1935 to 1943. When the WPA went out of existence in 1943, the State Library Board inherited its assets and was given the first state appropriation—$3,000—to fund the library program for the last third of the fiscal year. For the first full year of operations, 1943-44, the General Assembly appropriated $15,000 to employ staff and to initiate State Aid to county libraries. Nancy C. Blair, supervisor of the state WPA library project, became the first Executive Secretary of the State Library Board. The Board was charged with the duties of creating public libraries throughout the state and extending library service to rural districts.

In 1946 Estellene Paxton Walker was appointed head of the agency and served—as Executive Secretary, Executive Director, and State Librarian—until 1979. Under her leadership, the State Library Board helped establish or develop county and regional libraries which now serve all of the state's forty-six counties. The pattern of unified county library systems, each legally established and governed by a single library board, made possible a good level of service by eliminating expensive duplication and overhead and by sharing resources and personnel.

When the federal Library Services Act was passed in 1956, Governor George Bell Timmerman, Jr., issued an executive order charging the State Library Board with administering and implementing within the state the library programs provided for in the Act. By this means the agency's functions were expanded to include service to the blind and physically handicapped, development of library service in state institutions, and interlibrary cooperation. Beginning in 1968 the amended Library Services and Construction Act provided funds to assist the construction or expansion of public library buildings. Twenty-one county libraries received construction grants before appropriations for LSCA Title II ended in 1973.

In 1965, partially as a result of the First Governor's Conference on Public Libraries, the General Assembly appropriated matching funds to make possible the construction of a new building for the State Library Board through the Library Services and Construction Act. Before the new building was occupied in February 1970, an act (S. C. Code, 1976, 60-1-10 et seq.) was passed by the General Assembly in 1967, to become effective July 1, 1969, redesignating the State Library Board as the South Carolina State Library and making it responsible for public library development, library service for state institutions, service for the blind and physically handicapped, and library service to State Government and State Government agencies. In 1973 the South Carolina State Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped was established and now serves more than 7,800 registered borrowers. Prior to this time handicapped readers were served by a regional library jointly operated by the North Carolina State Library and the South Carolina State Library Board.

Since 1969, the State Library has had a dual role. As the library extension agency it provides a staff of consultants to assist public and state institutional libraries in strengthening services; maintains a comprehensive collection of books, documents, periodicals, films and other materials to supplement local library holdings; operates a reference and interlibrary loan service to provide information not available at the local level; and administers state and federal aid to libraries. As a reference and research library for State Government, the State Library supplies legislators, officials, research staff, and State agency personnel with the facts, statistics, or technical data required for planning and decision making. It answers questions, lends books and materials, researches issues, prepares bibliographies, collects state and federal documents, and provides information about legislation and programs of other states and the U. S. Government.

In recent years the General Assembly has recognized that libraries are an integral part of the State's educational system and that the State has an increasing responsibility for providing library and information services to all citizens. Because county libraries were originally established by individual enabling acts passed by the General Assembly, the effects of the Home Rule Act upon local legislation necessitated passage of a statewide library act. In 1978 the Legislature amended the Home Rule Act to require counties to provide public library systems and declared such systems to be educational agencies. Act 564 (S. C. Code, 1979 Supp., Sec. 4-9-35 et seq.) stated:

"The General Assembly finds that county public libraries make a substantial contribution to the education and recreation of the residents of the State and merit the continued interest and support of State and local government."

In keeping with this declaration the State's financial support for public libraries has grown substantially. In 1967 State Aid for public libraries was changed from $1,500 per county to 20¢ per capita ($69,650). Gradual increases in per capita support were further stimulated by a resolution of delegates to the 1979 Governor's Conference on Library and Information Services calling for $1.00 per capita State Aid. A campaign mounted by librarians, trustees, and Friends of libraries in 1980 led to the appropriation for FY 81 of 75¢ per capita ($1,942,887) in State Aid to public libraries.

The South Carolina State Library exists to serve citizens, libraries, and government. Its goals are to provide the library services and resources needed by the people of South Carolina and to give every individual access to the informational resources of the state. Whenever possible these responsibilities are met by means of programs designed to strengthen and improve the public and State institutional libraries which serve the public. When economy or efficiency so dictate, the State Library serves library users directly, as in Service to State Government or service to the blind and physically handicapped. An on-going objective is to encourage cooperative activities and sharing of resources by all South Carolina libraries. Long-range plans project the development of a statewide bibliographic network, utilizing computer and telecommunications technology, to serve all types of libraries and to enable them to share resources and eliminate unnecessary duplication. Such a network would enable a library user to utilize the total library resources of the State no matter where the location.

Highlights of 1979-1980

Alfred North Whitehead once wrote, "The art of progress is to preserve order amid change and to preserve change amid order." Having a full agenda of activities and the first new administrator in thirty-three years, maintaining that delicate balance seemed to be the State Library's greatest challenge for 1979-80. The State Librarian and staff undertook a complete systems review, evaluating programs and services and analyzing policies, procedures, staffing, and budgeting. LSCA funds made possible a new program of service to children. A consultant, the Field Service Librarian for Children's Services, initiated a program to assist public and state institutional libraries in strengthening and expanding services to children. The White House Conference on Library and Information Services was held in Washington, D. C., November 15-19, 1979, with twenty South Carolinians in attendance as delegates, alternates, or volunteer workers. The results of the state and national conferences will have a long-range impact on library planning and services.

Four out of five legislative goals were attained in whole or in part. The Association of Public Library Administrators' request for $1.00 per capita in State Aid for public libraries resulted in an increase from 50¢ per capita to 75¢ per capita for 1980-81. New State Aid Regulations, giving local library boards and administrators more autonomy in the use of State Aid, were promulgated without change by the Legislature. A library security act defined concealment or theft of library property as larceny, provided penalties therefor, and provided protection for staff members acting to protect property. An amendment to the State Library's legislation provided for staggered appointments to the State Library Board and changed the terms of Board members to five years. Proposed documents depository legislation which would have established a regional depository system was not enacted.

Access to library services for the handicapped is a major concern for the State Library. A workshop for library administrators was held to explain the regulations implementing Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 which prohibits discrimination against handicapped persons. Field Service staff provided assistance in the development of 504 Transition Plans by public libraries. Library staff cooperated in activities of the Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped and the Governor's Task Force on 504 Regulations.

After year-long negotiations, the State of South Carolina approved purchase of the Bull Street property immediately behind the present State Library building for the purpose of future State Library expansion. Although no immediate construction program is projected, the acquisition ensures the long-range growth plans of the State Library.

Interlibrary cooperation and networking were also subjects for long-range planning. The Task Force on Library Automation, created by the State Library in 1979, conducted a survey of automation activities and plans. The Task Force and State Library jointly sponsored a statewide meeting to consider the present and future services available to South Carolina libraries through the Southeastern Library Network (SOLINET) and its Regional Support System.

The State Library Board

The South Carolina State Library is an independent state agency governed by a library board of seven members named by the Governor, with one member from each Congressional District and one from the State at large. Act 317 of 1980 changed terms of board members from four to five years and re-established staggered appointments. During the year, Governor Richard W. Riley filled two vacancies existing since July 1, 1979, by re-appointing Dr. Carlanna Hendrick to the Board and naming Timothy E. Driggers, Jr., of Lexington to succeed Mrs. Thelma Busbee who had represented Congressional District II for fourteen years. During 1979-80, the State Library Board reviewed and updated major policy statements and adopted by-laws defining the Board's responsibilities and reaffirming the Library's Freedom of Information Policy.

READER SERVICES

The Reader Services Department provides assistance in the use of the reference and information resources of the State Library. Members of State government and State agencies make direct use of the library's resources. Citizens of the State have access to the library's services through their local public library.

Reference and Information Service to State Government

State government and agencies require current and retrospective information on a wide range of topics in order to perform efficiently in meeting the needs of the State. A major portion of the State Library's reference service is aimed at providing research service and materials to support the information requirements of state government and state agencies.

The State Library maintains a strong collection of books, journals, microforms, and government documents for use by all agencies of state government. This centrally housed research collection reduces the need for duplication of expensive books and other materials in various state agencies. The collection is particularly strong in the areas of government, human services, and current affairs. State agency personnel are encouraged to make recommendations for research materials needed in their work for inclusion in the collection. Several specialized collections, unique to the Columbia area, are used heavily by state government. The Education Resources Information Center (ERIC) collection of documents relating to all aspects of education has been developed in cooperation with the State Department of Education. The collection is a major source for research on education. Serving as the regional depository for South Carolina of materials from the Foundation Center in New York, the State Library has an extensive collection of materials relating to private foundations. This collection is an excellent source for individuals and organizations seeking grants from philanthropic foundations.

The State Library's reference staff works closely with library users to assist them in making the best use of this library's resources. During the year the reference staff conducted 10 orientation sessions on the library's services for state employees. To keep state personnel aware of new publications, the State Library monthly publishes and distributes New Resources, a selective listing of recent items added to the collection. During 1979-80, the State Library circulated 19,631 books to state agency personnel and processed 5,627 reference questions.

Legislative Reference Service

In January 1974 the State Library began a special information service for members of the General Assembly. A librarian from the State Library works closely with legislators and committee researchers to identify research needs. The reference staff of the library is available to either perform the needed research or to direct individuals to the best sources of information. Over the years legislators have become more familiar with the service and telephone the library directly with their requests. In the past year, legislators and their researchers borrowed 519 books and submitted 315 reference questions. The State Library also provided 2,210 pages of photocopy in response to reference questions.

Reference and Interlibrary Loan Service

The State Library serves as a central unit of the statewide interlibrary loan network designed to supplement and coordinate library resources in South Carolina. The Reference and Interlibrary Loan Service, drawing on the State Library's research collection works through local libraries to supply South Carolinians with materials and information. Public and state institutional libraries have direct access to the State Library via an In-WATS telephone service which allows interlibrary loan requests to be submitted and processed rapidly. In order that librarians may quickly determine the holdings of the State Library, the State Library placed a new microfilm edition of its current catalog in 38 public libraries throughout South Carolina. The State Library also distributed the second edition of its periodicals holdings list to academic and public libraries within the state.

Since no library can have everything needed by its patrons, the State Library makes use of other major collections within the state and the nation. In order to access the holdings of major South Carolina libraries, the State Library has microfilmed the catalogs at Clemson University and the University of South Carolina. For more technical and comprehensive requests requiring location of materials outside South Carolina, the State Library uses major union catalogs and the Southeastern Library Network (SOLINET). Through its membership in SOLINET, the State Library has an on-line capability to draw on a computerized data base of over six million items to locate titles held by more than 2200 libraries (including 24 South Carolina libraries). To encourage better use of the State Library's reference service within South Carolina, the State Library's interlibrary loan librarian made 9 field trips to local libraries to discuss interlibrary procedures and techniques. Two workshops on legal reference service and genealogical reference materials for county libraries were conducted during the year.

During 1979-80, the Reference and Interlibrary Loan Service received 4,904 In-WATS calls, answered 5,764 reference requests, and supplied 22,698 books and 11,158 pages of photocopy in reply to interlibrary loan requests.

Government Documents

The South Carolina State Documents collection maintained by the State Library is a comprehensive source for the official publications of State agencies and government. State documents provide current statistical information usually not available in other publications and serve as an excellent source for historical research. The collection is used extensively by researchers from this State and others. State agencies refer individuals to the State Library to use their publications no longer available for distribution, thereby reducing additional publication costs and unnecessary distribution of State publications. During the year 1,073 publications were added to the collection bringing the total number of documents to 23,122.

Since State documents represent one of the major forms of research produced in South Carolina, it is important they be preserved and made readily available to the citizens of the state. A State documents depository system is needed to assure the availability of these publications. South Carolina is one of the few states which has not enacted such depository legislation requiring that all State publications be sent to the State Library and other designated libraries in the state. Without such legislation, it is impossible to ensure that all current publications are received.

Each year the State Library compiles, publishes, and distributes the Checklist of South Carolina State Publications which lists publications of State governmental departments received by the State Library during the fiscal year.

Library Network Development

Libraries are faced with the tremendous task of providing access to the vast amount of information being generated today. To assist in the organization and retrieval of information, libraries increasingly are relying upon computer technology to expedite traditional library processes such as acquisitions, cataloging, and circulation of library materials. Computerized data bases containing research information are being used to provide reference service. The automation of library processes enables libraries to join together in cooperative networks to share resources. Library networks exist at the local, state, regional and national levels. In South Carolina, the State Library hopes to develop a statewide network of libraries to provide efficient access to the holdings of significant library collections around the state.

The State Library organized a Task Force on Library Automation to provide a forum for representatives from all types of libraries to make recommendations concerning library automation activities in order to assure the maximum use of existing systems and the orderly development of future systems which would be compatible with each other. During the year the Task Force conducted a survey to determine the status of library automation activities. Results of the survey were distributed to the South Carolina library community. The Task Force also sponsored a statewide conference on library automation and networking which was attended by 148 librarians.

Many of the State's libraries presently belong to the Southeastern Library Network (SOLINET), one of the major regional library networks in the country providing cooperative cataloging and location services. Participation by these libraries in SOLINET provides the basis for development of a state library network. To encourage additional membership of South Carolina libraries in SOLINET, the State Library awarded Title III, LSCA grants for the establishment of SOLINET clusters in Florence, Greenwood, and Spartanburg Counties. A cluster arrangement enables two or more libraries to share a common computer terminal, thereby reducing costs and permitting smaller libraries to benefit from automation. The Spartanburg cluster (Wofford College, Converse College, and Spartanburg County Library), and the Florence cluster (Florence-Darlington TEC, and Florence and Darlington County Libraries) became operational in March 1980. The Greenwood cluster of Lander College and Piedmont TEC will become operational in 1981.

TECHNICAL SERVICES

The Technical Services Department is responsible for selecting, ordering, receiving, cataloging and processing all materials added to the State Library collection. This includes newspapers and periodicals in paper and on microfilm as well as book and non-book materials. In addition federal and state documents are also acquired and processed. Additions during the year were:

Item	Additions	Total
Books .....	6,660	154,061
State Documents .....	1,073	23,122
Federal Documents .....	7,889	39,688
Microfilm reels .....	619	10,343
Microfiche .....	26,623	184,168

The entire public catalog was microfilmed and prints distributed to county and regional libraries throughout the state. This edition of the catalog included a supplementary reel of the Charleston County Public Library foreign language collection which is also available on interlibrary loan. Another microfilming project completed was that of the Columbia newspapers index for 1977 which was prepared by the Richland County Public Library.

A printer was installed and interfaced with the SOLINET (Southeastern Library Network) terminal. This has made for greater accuracy as well as reducing the amount of typing labor in the cataloging process. The printer is also being used for the OCLC, Inc. interlibrary loan subsystem which is accessed through the SOLINET terminal.

The Book Selection Committee revised the Book Selection Policy statement and the Gift Policy statement. These statements were previously revised in 1970.

The decision was made to input retrospective holdings into the data base. A by-product of this project is that eventually all state documents will appear in the public catalog. In conjunction with this retrospective conversion of state documents, the State Library tendered a formal commitment to cooperate with the Library of Congress to establish all entries for South Carolina government publications as soon as the Library of Congress expands its program in this area.

FIELD SERVICES

The Field Service Program, carried out by a team of six consultants, is designed to extend and improve public library service throughout the state. The consultant team, including four generalists and specialists in children's services and in film services—serve as liaison between the State Library and the thirty-nine county and regional library systems which provide service to all of the State's forty-six counties. The nature of the work which these consultants do with local librarians depends upon the level of library service in the system and on the training and experience of the individual librarians.

South Carolina library systems are striving to meet the goals for library service set forth in the South Carolina Program for Library Development. The Field Services Program serves as a catalyst for improvement. The Field Service Librarians assist librarians, trustees, and citizens in determining the library needs of the state and ways to meet those needs; provide direction and evaluation of State and federal projects carried out at the local level; provide in-service training on a one-to-one basis, in meetings, and through statewide workshops; explore solutions to local problems with library staff and boards; and provide ideas and information on diverse topics such as construction, staff development, and budget presentation. During fiscal 1979-80, the Field Service Librarians:

- worked with 39 systems serving 46 counties of the state
- made 261 field trips
- attended 59 local library board meetings
- monitored library budgets including approximately $9 million in local funds
- administered $1,295,258 in State Aid grants to public libraries
- supervised LSCA projects providing approximately $643,161 in grants-in-aid
- represented the State Library at local, state, and national conferences, conventions, workshops, professional associations, building dedications, civic organizations, and other state and local meetings
- provided recruiting, placement, and training services for public librarians.

STATE AID FOR PUBLIC LIBRARIES

Recognizing the State's responsibility for the support of public libraries as part of South Carolina's total educational and cultural program, the General Assembly appropriated $1,295,258 to the State Library for distribution in 1980—at 50¢ per capita—to county and regional libraries.

To participate in the State Aid program, public libraries must be legally established and fiscally sound and must evidence progress toward meeting recommended staffing standards and offer a program of library service to all members of the community.

Qualifying libraries may use State Aid funds to supplement staff salaries, to purchase books and audio-visual materials, to purchase or lease equipment, and to operate and maintain bookmobiles—all vital in meeting the people's informational and recreational needs.

During 1979-80 librarians, trustees, and friends mounted an intensive lobbying campaign to obtain an increase in State Aid for public libraries. In keeping with the recommendation of the 1979 South Carolina Governor's Conference on Library and Information Services, $1.00 per capita was requested. In response the General Assembly authorized State Aid of 75¢ per capita for FY 81.

FEDERAL AID TO SOUTH CAROLINA LIBRARIES

Since 1956 the State Library has administered the Library Services (and Construction) Act. Originally intended to develop public library service in rural areas, the purposes of LSCA now encompass the improvement and extension of public library service in both rural and urban areas, the improvement of library service for certain priority groups, the construction of public library buildings, and promotion of interlibrary cooperation among all types of libraries.

Federal aid is used in South Carolina to supplement and reinforce State Aid to libraries, to provide the incentive for improved local support, and to provide a better level of service for all South Carolinians. A major objective is the extension of service to the unserved and the inadequately served. All forty-six counties in the state now have legally established unified county library systems providing every South Carolinian with access to public library service.

Title I of LSCA provides for improved services to public and institutional libraries and to certain segments of the population. Over the years more than one million books and more than 2,100 annual periodical subscriptions have been added to South Carolina library resources by means of LSCA grants-in-aid. The quality of library personnel has improved because of the recruitment of new staff and the continuing education of existing staff. LSCA provides grants to improve library service in state-supported institutions. With the help of LSCA funds, libraries are reaching out to help the culturally disadvantaged, the functionally illiterate, the elderly, the handicapped, and isolated people who need special services.

For a ten year period, 1964-1973, LSCA Title II provided monies for public library construction. This title has not been funded since 1973.

Interlibrary cooperation is important to the modern library. Title III programs have helped promote the concept of resource sharing. An active network provides for improved communications, bibliographic access, interlibrary loan, in-service training, study and planning. The building of a statewide data base will help eliminate expensive duplication of materials and will make the state's library resources available to all South Carolinians.

FILM PROGRAM

The State Library's 16mm film program was established in 1974 to strengthen and to expand resources of South Carolina public and state institutional libraries. The films are documentary/informational films for all ages and are used by public and state institutional libraries to meet the informational needs of library patrons. The collection includes some 1,070 films and is updated by constant additions. A catalog of the film collection is revised periodically and distributed to all public and institutional libraries to assist them in using the film service.

To avoid expensive duplication of personnel and equipment, the State Library contracts with the Instructional Services Center of the University of South Carolina to house, maintain and distribute the films. The contractual price for FY 80 was $12,000.

Since the film program began, the State Library has conducted three statewide and four regional film workshops. The number of libraries participating in the program has increased from 31 in 1974 to 44 in 1980. A total of 4,386 film programs reached an audience of 80,475 this year.

CONTINUING EDUCATION FOR LIBRARIANS

The State Library has always recognized the need for well-trained library staff to provide effective library service and therefore supports a program of continuing education for public and institutional library personnel at all levels as well as for library trustees. Grants are awarded to professional and non-professional personnel to attend seminars, conferences, and workshops and academic courses in librarianship. During 1979-80, grants were awarded to nine non-professional people representing nine county and regional library systems to take basic courses in book selection, children's literature, cataloging and classification, and reference. Five professional librarians received grants to attend conferences on Space Planning and Practical Design for Libraries, Library Applications of Data Processing, the Planning Process for Public Libraries, and the Problem Patron.

The State Library staff also benefitted from attendance at workshops on personnel performance appraisal, documents, energy information, books by mail, word processing, national library service, service to the disabled child, and South Carolina's primary prevention program.

The State Library also sponsored the story hour workshops attended by 150 people, the Children's Film Workshop attended by 83 people, the workshop on Barrier Free Design attended by 80 people, and, in cooperation with the Task Force on Library Automation, the workshop on library networking attended by 290 librarians from across the state.

LIBRARY SERVICE TO CHILDREN

As part of the Field Services Program, the State Library established a separate program to focus on children's services in mid-1979. The goal of this program is to develop better collections and activities for children in public libraries throughout South Carolina. The development of good children's library services has been hampered in the past by a lack of trained staff in many libraries. A children's consultant provides support and training as well as assistance to individual libraries in the planning and evaluation of services.

During fiscal year 1979-1980, regional workshops on story hours were held in Batesburg, Walterboro, Charleston, Greenville, and Spartanburg. A two-day Children's Film Workshop was designed to introduce the State Library's addition of children's film into the collection. A survey was conducted to determine the current state of public library service to children in South Carolina. The children's consultant made sixty-two field visits and worked with general field staff in supervising Federal grants-in-aid related to serving children.

LIBRARY SERVICE TO THE DISADVANTAGED

During 1980, the State Library, using federal funds under its administration, made grants-in-aid to twenty-four county and regional library systems to establish, expand, and extend library service to the disadvantaged in South Carolina. These grants enabled participating libraries to employ personnel, provide transportation, develop collections of reading and audio-visual materials, and purchase special equipment needed to implement service to the disadvantaged. Pilot projects designed to provide story program kits for use by day care and kindergarten staff and to inform parents of the importance of reading to pre-school children were funded. Grants were made to assist one new county library system and one weak county library system develop miniimum levels of service and financial support prerequisite for outreach services.

Through this project a sound filmstrip collection was maintained. This collection is available through interlibrary loan to all public and institutional libraries in South Carolina. During 1980, 1,061 filmstrips were loaned to county and institutional libraries.

OLDER AMERICANS PROJECT

In 1978 the State Library began a program to establish public library services for older Americans. Two three-year demonstration projects, in Laurens and Lexington Counties, were funded to enable the libraries in these counties to employ Older Americans Librarians to develop programs and to experiment with new techniques, materials, and services for persons age sixty and over, especially those not being reached by the library's traditional services.

FY 80 marked the second year of these demonstration projects. Activities included delivery of library materials to homebound persons, to nursing home residents, and to retirement home residents; establishment of deposit collections at senior citizens centers, nursing homes and nutrition sites; a busy schedule of film programs, book talks, poetry discussion groups, and bibliotherapy sessions at these locations; and in-library exhibits and programs for older persons. On several occasions older persons themselves have assisted with library activities, demonstrating quilting skills, telling stories to children during story hours, reviewing books, and helping with program planning.

Older Americans Librarians continue to work closely with local councils on aging and other social service agencies to develop programs and services to meet the needs of older Americans in Laurens and Lexington Counties.

PUBLIC LIBRARY CONSTRUCTION

The State Library no longer has federal funds to aid in public library building programs since Title II of the LSCA program is no longer funded. It does provide a valuable service to local library systems planning new construction, renovations, or additions. Upon request, the Field Staff provides consultant service on library planning and reviews schematic plans, working drawings and specifications. During 1979-80 the following public library buildings were in the planning or construction stage: York County —Headquarters Library in Rock Hill; Lexington County Library—Irmo Branch Library in Irmo; and Chesterfield County Library—Pageland Branch Library in Pageland.

INSTITUTIONAL LIBRARY SERVICES

The Library Services and Construction Act mandate to provide library services to residents of state-supported institutions enabled the State Library to plan and implement a program for institutional libraries which has gained in strength and impact with each succeeding year. State funds now provide an institutional library consultant while LSCA underwrites the institutional grant program.

A primary goal of the State Library's program for institutional libraries has been collection development, for which grants-in-aid are provided annually. The program also includes consultant services, workshops for administrators and librarians, scholarships for staff development, reference assistance and interlibrary loan services. Thirty-three institutions maintained by eight State departments or agencies participate in this project, extending library service to some 21,000 residents. Seventeen of these libraries offer full-service programs which support the education, rehabilitation, and therapy objectives of their institutions. Fourteen adult correctional facilities are served from a central library division maintained by the Department of Corrections.

Five institutions too small to maintain full-service library programs are served by a special project of the State Library. The South Carolina Crippled Children's Convalescent Center receives library service through a three-way contract by which the State Library works with the Florence County Library to serve this Center. Three addictions centers and a vocational rehabilitation center annually receive collections of paperback books especially selected for their residents' use in therapy or recreation.

LIBRARY SERVICES TO THE BLIND AND PHYSICALLY HANDICAPPED

The South Carolina State Library has the responsibility for providing library services to the blind and physically handicapped in the state. This service is provided to those South Carolinians who are unable to read conventional print due to a visual or physical handicap. Books and magazines are available in recorded form (disc and tape), braille, and in large print. Most readers read recorded books and for them the library supplies a sound reproducer (either a talking book machine or a cassette playback machine). The South Carolina State Library administers this service in cooperation with the Library of Congress. Braille service is provided under a contract with the North Carolina State Library.

In fiscal year 1980 the library provided service to 7,865 people, an increase of 1,016 over the previous year. A total of 124,564 books and magazines were borrowed. Not reflected in these totals are many magazines received directly by the readers from the producers under contract to the Library of Congress. Books added to the collection numbered 17,901 volumes.

Seven South Carolina titles were recorded by volunteers during the year. Books recorded by volunteers in other states were also added to the collection, thus offering our readers a greater variety of reading matter.

Since service is chiefly a mail-order service from Columbia, a quarterly large print newsletter and an In-WATS telephone line serve as major means of communication. Each new reader is contacted by his county library to determine if all equipment sent to him arrived safely and if the reader understands how the program operates. In five county libraries—Anderson, Charleston, Florence, Greenville, and Spartanburg—the State Library maintains browsing collections of several hundred recorded books. The State Library encourages county libraries to consider the needs of the handicapped in local programming.

North and South Carolina jointly operated a regional library for the blind from 1961 until 1973 when separate libraries were established in both states. Many exciting things have happened since September 1973 when the State Library first began providing this service directly. At that time approximately 1,800 people were using the service. Today that figure has increased to 7,865, an increase of 337%. The book collection at that time consisted of approximately 10,000 books, most of which were on phonograph record. Today's collection is over 86,000 volumes of records, tapes, and large print. There was no volunteer book recording program then. Now South Carolina's handicapped citizens can read books about their state because of an active volunteer program.

The past seven years have seen an increase in awareness of this program. This is due primarily to an active outreach program with public libraries and many agencies, both public and private. Through these efforts the State Library hopes to reach all potential users of this service.

LIBRARY LEGISLATION, 1980

Three library-related bills were before the 1980 General Assembly. Two of them were enacted and are now law, while one received favorable action in the House of Representatives but did not come up for a vote in the Senate.

A library security act, Act 334, defines as larceny the wilful concealment or removal of books or other library property, provides penalties for such actions, and protects library employees against civil liability for causing the arrest of persons under this act. All libraries are protected by this act, but particularly those with electronic security systems.

Act 317 amended the current law concerning appointments to the State Library Board to reestablish staggered appointments to the Board and to change the term of membership from four to five years.

The State Library continues to seek passage of a Documents Depository and Distribution Law designating the State Library as central depository for all State documents and providing for the collection, listing, and distribution of State publications to designated depository libraries around the state. Such legislation would provide bibliographic control of State documents and make possible free and easy access to such documents by citizens of the state. As S348 it passed the Senate in 1979. The House reported out a different version (H2389) in early 1980. Despite statewide efforts to secure its passage it remained on the Senate's contested calendar at the close of the session. Some legislators do not recognize the need for such a bill and fear the program might require additional state personnel.

WHITE HOUSE CONFERENCE ON LIBRARY AND INFORMATION SERVICES

The White House Conference on Library and Information Services was held in Washington, D. C. on November 15-19, 1979. From South Carolina the professional delegates were Mary McAfee, Catherine H. Lewis, and Dr. F. William Summers, with Betty E. Callaham as alternate. The lay delegates were James L. Braswell, Ronald L. Copsey, Lynn Hornsby, Randy LaCross, James R. Martin, and Dr. Floyd Wilcox, Sr., with Samuel B. Hudson, Mrs. B. E. Nicholson, and Hugh Rogers as alternates. Delegates at large were Kathy J. Roe and Margaret Sites.

The White House Conference program was organized around five conference themes: Meeting Personal Needs, Enhancing Lifelong Learning, Improving Organizations and the Professions, Effectively Governing our Society, and Increasing International Understanding and Cooperation. Resolutions arising from the theme areas were developed, approved, and put into final form following the conference by the Resolutions Committee. In January, the South Carolina delegation made its report to the South Carolina Advisory Committee and representatives of statewide library groups. The White House Conference on Library and Information Service 1979, Final Report—Summary was published in March and distributed by the State Library to the academic, public, and technical libraries of this state. A report on the conference was also published in the State Library's News for South Carolina Libraries.

The South Carolina Governor's Conference exerted a positive effect on the statewide campaign which resulted in a fifty percent increase in State Aid to public libraries, an increase from 50¢ to 75¢ per capita. Committees are also continuing to work on developing more effective public relations programming for libraries, coordinating continuing education efforts statewide, and on the elimination of barriers to access to libraries. The White House Conference had the direct effect of influencing the Congress to retain funding of library programs at current levels in the face of general budget reductions. President Carter has appointed an Inter-Agency Task Force to study the WHCLIS report and resolutions and to recommend appropriate actions to implement them.

Mrs. Catherine H. Lewis and Mr. Samuel B. Hudson will represent South Carolina at a meeting of the White House conference followup committee to be held in September, 1980. The effects of the state and national conferences will continue to be felt for years to come.
